

Capital letters exercise

Go through the following newspaper article and add capital letters where they are needed and take away unnecessary ones. Highlight the incorrect version and write your correct version above.

Town gets TV guest of honour television newsreader george Alagiah will visit garstang This week to join in its Fifth birthday celebrations as the world's first Fairtrade Town.

The visit coincides with Fairtrade Fortnight and will see lancashire County council launch its campaign to make Lancashire a Fairtrade county.

The bbc Presenter and patron of the Fairtrade Foundation, who is due to attend a ticket-only event at Garstang golf and country hotel on friday, said: "During my days as War correspondent I learned that the most important way to prevent conflict is to give families independence with regular work.

"Fairtrade does just that, and I congratulate and Thank both Garstang and the county of lancashire for all that they are doing to support Fairtrade."

The birthday party at Garstang Golf and Country Hotel will start at 8pm on friday.

On saturday, George alagiah will take a short tour of Garstang and conduct a Book signing at The Corner Bookshop between 11am and noon.

07 March 2006 Lancashire Evening Post